Where Are We?
2017

Screening does not equal outcomes

2018

• Both ECCS communities are using the Help Me Grow framework to track screening and follow-up and services after a screen occurs

• Looking at health equity and referral to services to support social determinants of health in local communities

• The project uses a collective impact approach that underscores the importance of community and family engagement to make change
2017
Importance of health equity and impact of implicit bias on delivery and response to services

Culture and implicit bias impacts how services are delivered, received and continued

2018
Importance of health equity and impact of implicit bias on delivery and response to services

• The Council has an initiative focusing on equity and implicit bias.
• We're hoping to use this resource to support the ECCS communities in incorporating race equity into their work.
• ECCS has connected with other ECCS grantees to discuss lessons learned and challenges in incorporating these issues.
The two ECCS communities are using the ASQ-3 to screen families as part of the HMG online screening tool.

Some practices on Long Island continue to use the SWYC – some practices in WNY use the M-CHAT – some use the PEDS. Others are simply conducting surveillance.

The state team continues to encourage screen flexibility.

Highlight and connect community initiatives

2018

- The ECCS team continues to build statewide, nationwide and international (Canada) connections
2017

Connecting silos and encouraging data sharing

2018

• In response to the PARTNER tool we found that a small percentage of our State Advisory Team agencies are sharing data

• We also found that there isn’t clarity around what data is shared

• This lead to discussion of a community maturity to locally assess if communities are sharing data and what data is being shared. This information will be provided to our SAT for consideration at the state level.
Community change ideas must be connected to policy

ECCS is receiving additional TA around connecting change ideas to policy
